HEALTHCARE OVERVIEW

NOLAN VENDOR SOLUTIONS FOR HEALTHCARE

Targeted Solutions for an Evolving Industry

The selection of a new administrative or health management platform is a choice that healthcare payers often live with for decades. To help payers make the appropriate choice, The Nolan Company uses proven methodologies to provide a clearly defined path from assessment through implementation.

Emerging Opportunities

The convergence of healthcare reform mandates, new technologies, and shifting business strategies has prompted many healthcare payers to question whether their current processing systems are the right platforms for their future business. The question then becomes how to move forward with such a large investment. Selecting the right business partner to help answer these and other questions can be as critical as the selecting right software package.

What We Offer

The Nolan Company understands the complexity and intricacies of healthcare payer systems — an expert perspective that's reflected in our insightful approach to vendor solution implementations. We know the key vendors. We know which questions to ask. We know what works, what doesn't — and why. When you partner with Nolan, every part of the assessment, selection, and implementation process is part of a structured, data-driven, focused effort. We take the guesswork out, and concentrate on the factors that truly make a difference for our healthcare clients.

Key Outcomes

Replacing a core administrative system or an ancillary system is generally one of the largest investments that a healthcare payer makes. The Nolan Company can help you lower your overall costs and accelerate the process, while reducing your risk profile. Based on our experience with these types of implementations, clients enjoy a better business solution on the whole as a result.

The Nolan Difference

The Nolan Company employs vendor profiles, proven frameworks and proprietary methodologies to ensure efficiency, integrity and objectivity with each engagement. Because our seasoned healthcare practitioners have held leadership positions in the industry, we're able to apply our healthcare expertise and practical experience to deliver the right solutions faster. Our approach and resources ensure our payer solutions support your strategic and operational goals.
